

MADERO TAKES TO THE HILLS

SAYS HE'LL SHOW THE WORLD THAT HE'S READY TO FIGHT.

Thought He Had Defeated Mexican Regular Army Before Guadalupe. Shares Hardships of Men and Improves Organization—Rebels Take Tonichi.

EL PASO, Feb. 18.—Francisco I. Madero, self-proclaimed provisional President of Mexico, intends to show to the world that he is not afraid to fight for the cause which has started the war. He is now at the head of 300 picked men and declares he will be at the head of his entire army within a short time. He made a show of resistance to the Federals when they marched out from Juarez and thought he had defeated them before he moved his camp back to the hills.

He got a report Thursday that the Federals had left Juarez to take Guadalupe, where he was staying. Calling his men about him, he mounted a wagon in the street of the little town and declared: "The enemy is reported to be near us; what shall we do?"

"Advance," came the reply, and the advance was ordered.

Thursday night these insurgents met the Federals at Guadalupe Pass, west of the town in the direction of Juarez. Madero and his wagon train in the town were ready to depart to the mountains if defeated. But the Federals retired, and Madero thought they had quit. Then he withdrew his fighters from the front and all left for the mountains.

It happened, however, that the Federals he met had only been the advance guard sent out from Juarez. The main army did not go out until Friday morning, after Madero had left Guadalupe, and when it arrived this morning through the mud the bird had flown.

Continuing his speech to the men in the street prior to preparing for the fight, Madero asked: "Are there any of you who wish to go back, any who have just come?"

There was a silence, and then Madero went on:

"Not one! There are only two leaders in Mexico, Diaz and I. But you are going to fight for an idea and not for me. You will all obey me as your choice, and I will lead you. We form a nucleus of humanity under the banner of liberty. We wish the laws to be enforced. Law is law, and I intend to apply the law. (Cries of 'Viva la Constitution!')

"If you do not agree with me you are free to go, or to stay and fight as brothers. (Cries of 'Yes, brothers!')

"The victory is ours, for Mexico belongs to me!"

The leader has shaved off his beard, but still wears a mustache. He rides a horse and eats tortillas and beans and beef with his men, claiming no luxuries that are denied them, subsisting upon what they have for their food. He is now camped about twenty-three miles in the interior from Guadalupe and the international line. He expects the Federals to attack him there, but says he will resist. There are at least sixty Americans in his command.

That Madero is getting some system into his army is shown by the fact that he held a court-martial yesterday before the desertion of Guadalupe. Presidio Silva, ranking as captain, was dismissed and set free to choose his path. The action was taken by Madero himself. Silva was one of the two officers who led the small band which took Guadalupe and he is held responsible for much pillage in the residence. This could not be proved against him, but it was shown that he had imprisoned the most wealthy residents and held them for ransom.

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Feb. 18.—According to advices received at the local office of the Southern Pacific, train service on the Yaqui River line of the Southern Pacific in Sonora has been discontinued owing to revolutionary activity. The revolutionists are said to be in possession of Tonichi, the terminus of the line, and to have taken charge of the camp of the United States Development Company. The Southern Pacific company is engaged in the development of coal lands in the Barranca district of Sonora.

E. S. Brooks, general manager of the company, reports that when the rebels appeared in the camp the comisario de police surrendered and joined their ranks. All arms in possession of Mexicans were taken up, but the Americans in camp were not molested in any way and there was no interference with the operations of the company. There are a number of important mining concerns in that section of Sonora, among them the San Antonio Copper Company of the Cole-Ryan interests. If traffic interruption on the Yaqui River line continues the question of supplies will become serious.

In this city within the last few days arrests have been made of several men said to be leaders of the revolutionary army. One of the men, Salvador Saucedo, tore into his document he had in his possession at the time of his arrest. When he was searched a photograph of Roque Estrada, secretary of Madero's provisional government, was found.

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 18.—It was announced that the National Railways regular train service between Juarez and Mexico city would begin to-day, but telegrams from Chihuahua indicate that this is impossible. It is reported that telegraphic communication has again been cut between there and Juarez and that the rebels have burned more bridges. It was thought that Gen. Navarro had left the line sufficiently guarded to prevent further interruption, but it appears that the rebels are able to cut the line whenever and wherever they desire.

Merchants here and at Northern points who have freight coming from the United States by way of El Paso are much hindered. They have had goods lying at Juarez for more than two weeks. It is impossible to estimate now when their consignments will arrive. All the freight possible is being rerouted from El Paso to Mexico city through Eagle Pass and Laredo, but this necessitates much time. The National lines are also short of cars and have given notice to many firms north that until conditions change they will be unable to supply them.

A despatch from Torreon says that consternation prevails in the Guayule rubber manufacturing circles on account of this order as it means the closing of many factories. Among the companies affected is the Continental Rubber Company. This firm has enough stock on hand to continue work for thirty days longer. Then if cars are not available the factories will have to close down.

A bridge has been burned on the International line between Torreon and Durango, stopping traffic. A passenger train was immediately sent out, guarded by hundreds of soldiers, to make repairs, but it is not believed that the rebels will permit the train to be done. Several considerable bands have been showing great activity in that section recently and further depredations are feared, as the Government has few troops available to send against them.

On account of recent outbreaks in the State of Puebla the Government is bringing with all the troops from Yucatan and the Quintana Roo, as those parts are quiet. It is believed that the Governor of Puebla will soon be replaced as he is very unpopular. Changes are also expected in various other States.

The Government has started the construction of a railroad from all the stations of the city through the principal streets to the local and long distance lines to facilitate the shipment of arms and ammunition to various points, and also to enable it to defend any station in the city if the rebels should attempt to enter here with a train. The work started at 7 o'clock last evening and is proceeding day and night.

STUDENTS FROM TURKEY.

Five of Them Chosen by Their Government to Study in the United States.

Five students sent by the Government of Turkey to study in the United States arrived at Columbia University yesterday. They came from England on the Mauretania on Friday and were met by the Turkish Consul and the secretary of the university, but they did not visit the university until yesterday, when they began to arrange for the courses they will take up.

The party is composed of three Turks, one Armenian and one native of the Island of Cyprus. They are Ahmed Emin of Saloniki, Abdullah Handi of Constantinople, Nikolaki Aginli of Nigide, Asia Minor, Djavad Eyoub of Constantinople, and Ahmed Chukri of Cyprus. They all speak English fairly well, and have little difficulty in making themselves understood. None of them had ever been away from home before they essayed the trip to America and all were pretty much impressed by everything they saw, although they were of one mind in declaring that they were glad to have reached New York after traveling for something more than three weeks.

They are selected by the Department of Education of the Turkish Government after having passed a competitive examination in Constantinople. There were nearly three dozen candidates for the five scholarships in Columbia that had been offered by President Butler to the Turkish Government. The test consisted mainly of an examination in English, each student being compelled to write a paper in English on an assigned topic. The five chosen were the best of all the negotiations for their journey to America were conducted by Hifaz Pasha of the Turkish Ministry of Education, and Jatin Kirey, career, acting Minister of the United States to Turkey.

The students will take up their courses next week. Emin will specialize in social science and history, Handi and Eyoub in mathematics, Aginli in political economy and Chukri in geology and social science. They are at present living in an apartment near the university on Mornington Heights.

TOOK FEE, DIDN'T APPEAL.

New Fledged Lawyer Complained Of By N. Y. County Bar Association.

The first application by the New York County Lawyers Association to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court to discipline an attorney was made yesterday by Hiram Thomas, counsel for the committee on discipline of the association, in the case of William Voxman. The complaint stated that Voxman accepted a case to prosecute, agreed to Municipal Court actions and then allowed the defendant to take the case to the Appellate Division without acting. Voxman paid back the $20 after he was threatened with prosecution, it was alleged. Voxman's defense was that he had been admitted only as a client to the case, and that he had no right to question and that through mental anxiety due to family matters he failed to engage some one else to do the work for him. The Appellate Division referred the charge to Henry A. Gildersleeve, the official referee.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court has directed Referee Gildersleeve to hear charges brought by the grievance committee of the Bar Association against Israel Levine on the ground that he accepted $150 from a client to pay off a mortgage and then kept the money. Levine's defense is that the money was lent to him by the client.

MONTCLAIR DANGER SPOT.

Efforts to Do Away With the Bloomfield Avenue Grade Crossing.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Feb. 18.—Mayor Hinck is trying to bring the Lackawanna Railroad Company, the Public Service Railway Company and the Essex County Board of Freeholders together on the proposition to abolish the Bloomfield Avenue grade crossing, which has been reported to the State authorities as "the most dangerous grade crossing in New Jersey."

The Lackawanna company is willing to include the elimination of the grade crossing in its plans for new terminal facilities in Montclair and to spend $45,000 on the work. The cost of the improvements at the grade crossing would be about $10,000, and the Lackawanna wants the street railway company and Essex county, which has control of Bloomfield Avenue, to pay between them $25,000. The Board of Freeholders and the Public Service company have denied charges of entering into the project, the former on the ground that such action would be followed by a demand for the county's payment of the removal of other grade crossings and the latter because of the cost of changing the grade where the trolley track crosses the railroad.

LEPER IN THE CROWD.

Eskdale's Ship Carpenter Will Return on Her to Singapore.

Wong Sam, ship's carpenter aboard the British steamship Eskdale, from Baltimore and Norfolk in ballast, was declared to be a leper by a surgeon of the marine hospital service who examined him at Norfolk and sent him to Federal quarantine at Cape Charles. The Eskdale sailed thence for Baltimore without Wong, but he was put aboard when she came back, bound for this port. Health Officer Dory took a look at Wong at Quarantine yesterday and said that he seemed to be leprous, but that he was strong and that there was no danger of contagion even to his shipmates unless they were unduly familiar with him. The ship gave bond $100 to the Government guaranteeing that Wong would be landed at Singapore on the Eskdale's next trip to the East, which will begin ten days hence. Meanwhile Wong will be kept at Federal quarantine work. Most of the crew of the Eskdale are Chinese and Lascars.

"HERMIT OF DISMAL SWAMP."

Fletcher Lassiter, Drummond Lake Recluse, Dies at Home of Relative.

SUPPLY, Va., Feb. 18.—Fletcher Lassiter, "Hermit of the Dismal Swamp," died last night. Most all of his sixty years had been passed on and around Lake Drummond. The jungles to the hermit were like Broadway to a New Yorker. Against the hermit's violent protests they carried him away to die, and he died at the home of a relative in Nansmond county. The Rev. Dr. W. W. Staley this afternoon said the religious rites and the hermit's body was laid away in his father's home.

Always a lover of the lake and its environs, Lassiter after domestic troubles procured a bungalow by the lakeside, following a divorce from his wife. He then became a recluse and never left the swamp except on rare occasions to procure food.

The hermit would sometimes hold conversation with sportsmen from a distance who sought him out for information because he was wise in ways of the wilds.

Aviation at Tampa Race-track.

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 18.—The Curtiss aeroplanes, which are parked at the track in readiness for the exhibition flights to-morrow attracted much attention to-day. J. A. D. McMurtry and Lincoln Beachey will fly at the track Sunday. Monday and Tuesday afternoons. On the latter two afternoons the races will be moved up, starting earlier.

PROSPECTING BELOW THE LINE.

SOUTHERN RAILROAD MAN TO TRY HIS HAND IN BRAZIL.

Tex Rickard Off to the Argentine Shoppers to Look Into Cattle and Sheep.

Tex Rickard, director of the mechanical department of the Atlanta and West Point Railroad Company, who has been entertained here for the last week by railroad and steamship men, sailed yesterday for Brazil by the Lamport and Holt liner Vasca to take charge of the mechanical department of about 5,000 miles of railroad in Brazil, with headquarters at Sao Paulo, the railroad center of the republic. About twenty of Mr. Rickard's friends, including Fred B. Dalziel, went with him to the airport. Dalziel, who is a close friend of Rickard, and who has a young leave of absence from the Atlanta and West Point, so that if he does not like his new job he may take back his old one, his cabin was filled with flowers for himself and his wife and two children. One bunch of roses decorated a duplicate of the hydraulic jack used by Deputy Police Commissioner Flynn in his raid on gambling places last Wednesday. The jack was the gift of the manufacturer who is a friend of Mr. Walsh and bore a card with the inscription, "Break into Brazil!"

George Lewis Rickard, better known as "Tex," was also a passenger by the Vasca. Mr. Rickard took the Johnson-McNellies fight to Nevada, where his home is and where he has made money in mining. He said he was bound for Argentina to look things over there and see what he might do in the cattle and sheep business and in the development of mining properties. "I am through forever," he said, "with the fighting game. There is nothing in it. I am naturally a frontiersman. I like new things and I understand there are a lot of them down in Argentina. I only wish there was somebody from near my home at Ely, Nev., going down on this ship with me."

A man with Western broadness of manner who has been looking at Rickard overheard his last remark, and stepping up to him said: "I'm from Reno. You're Mr. Rickard?"

The breezy man said he was Frank Whitworth, also bound for Argentina, and that the object of his trip was to look into the exportation of sheep from Argentina. He said a shipload of sheep that recently arrived at San Francisco from Argentina caused a drop in the price of lamb from 95 cents to 75 cents and that the lamb was better than the domestic article. He said he believed that America wanted Argentine lamb and he was going to see about getting it here.

Arthur Cook, head of the Lamport and Holt Line, sailed by the Vasca to look into its business at the many ports it touches in South America. He will use the wireless outfit of the ship to conduct business of the line and will return to England from Buenos Ayres by a Royal Mail ship.

A STEIN SUE FOR DIVORCE.

Wife of Greenwich Resident Expert in Pistol Practice Seeks Separation.

GREENWICH, Conn., Feb. 18.—Alexander Stein, son of a one-time New York brewer, former member of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club and of the Seventh Regiment of New York, has been made the defendant in a suit for divorce brought in the Fairfield county Supreme Court by his wife, Emma E. Stein. She was Emma Stein, daughter of a New York and married Stein on October 28, 1904. Beauty Stein, Hendrie of Stamford to-day attached Stein's property to the amount of $200,000, and filed the wife's complaint at the town clerk's office.

Mrs. Stein asserts that her husband for a year has been and is habitually intemperate, and she asks the custody of her only child, Alexander, Jr., aged 5 years, and alimony. The document states the defendant owns real estate valued at $100,000 and personal property amounting to $60,000.

The suit is brought by E. L. Scofield of Stamford. While habitual intemperance is the charge upon which the divorce is based, it is asserted that Mrs. Stein is in fear for her life because of her husband's custom of carrying and shooting firearms. It is said that he is a crack shot. Stein has a luxurious home at Bryn Mawr, in Greenwich, near the home of Joseph Milburn, Henry Mallory, Joseph Mallory and other well-known New Yorkers. His wife has lived at the home of her sister, Mrs. Doll, next door, since last November, and it is reported engaged in a detective at that time to chum with Stein and try to get him to change his habits. The detective failed in his mission, for since then the Greenwich Selectmen noted for his eccentricities along the lines of target practicing. He constantly carried pistols, a cockery and other unusual targets were used by him.

Stein, who is a police officer, gave the Port Chester police force instruction in pistol shooting and they took one lesson under him. Fishermen complained to the police that they were unable to ply their trade off Bryn Mawr because of whizzing bullets. His own friends became timid and kept away from his place. Once he petitioned the Greenwich Selectmen to provide a watchman for his neighbors. He said he was able to watch over his own property, and he once doubted him. It is understood that Stein is about to depart on a Southern trip.

MEN HAD MRS. PASTOR'S COAT.

Her House at 130 West Thirty-fourth Street Robbed.

Two detectives making the rounds of the pawnshops yesterday afternoon came upon two men at Second Avenue and Fifth street who looked as though they had something to sell that they were ashamed of. One of the men had a face that the detectives knew. What they had was a woman's fur lined coat. They couldn't explain how they came to have it so they were arrested. They said they were Frank Burke of 228 Fifth street and Fritz Suerman of 228 Fifth street.

In Burke's room the detectives found a hat box with a store label on it made out with the name of Mrs. Louis Pastor. At the store they learned that Mrs. Pastor lived at 130 West Thirty-fourth street. Mrs. Pastor said last night that besides her coat and other personal effects, her house was ransacked, she said, while she was out shopping last Wednesday. The police are looking for her sister.

MUST MAKE APPOINTMENTS.

Seven Probationary Officers for Brooklyn at Once, Says Court.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn yesterday handed down a decision directing the board of City Magistrates of the Second Division to appoint at once five additional male and two female probationary officers at salaries ranging from $100 to $120 without regard to eligible lists or civil service rules.

The inferior courts act passed last year provided that the appointments should be made on or before September 1, but the Magistrates took no action on the matter until now. The decision was made under the civil service rules and a test case was submitted to the courts. Justice Woodward, who with application, says that the Magistrates, even if waiting for an eligible list, should have made temporary appointments, as directed by the statute.

MARTIN EGAN'S DEATH.

Brooklyn Police Lieutenant Must Explain His Action.

Charges of neglect of duty have been preferred against Police Lieutenant John R. Downey of the Butler street station in Brooklyn in connection with the death of Martin Egan, 33 years old, of East Thirtieth street and Avenue X, Flat 10, at the Long Island College Hospital on Wednesday last.

Egan went down on Tuesday, according to his wife, to have a tooth extracted, but he did not return. The same night he was found in President street in a supposed intoxicated condition and taken to the station. Lieut. Downey, who was at the desk, says he gave the name of John Williams, but gave no address. After being locked up in a cell for three hours he was discovered in an unconscious state and taken to the hospital, where he died within a few hours. The autopsy showed that death resulted from a fracture of the skull caused by a blow or fall.

It was not until Friday that Mrs. Egan identified the body at the Morgue. She says he was extremely sober in his habits. Lieut. Downey will have to explain why he did not summon an ambulance when Egan was brought before him.

"BISHOP" MIRAGLIA CIRCULARS.

Priest Has Youth Arrested for Stealing Them Distributed.

Edward Coliguri, 20 years old, of 512 Henry street, Brooklyn, was arrested yesterday charged with causing the distribution of circulars denouncing the Rev. Father John Vogel, rector of the Sacred Heart of Mary and Jesus, Bishop McDonnell and others and defending Don Paolo Miraglia, who represents himself as an independent Catholic Bishop. The complaint was made by Father Vogel, Coliguri, who represented Father Vogel, Voorhees in the Butler street court and held for examination in $500 bail.
